PPPL Establishes Goal of $25,000 for the 1994 United Way Campaign

This year's United Way Campaign at the Laboratory encourages employees to continue "giving their share to show they care."

"The United Way Committee thanks everyone for their past participation in the campaign, and asks staff to continue its history of generosity," said John Bavlish, who is PPPL's 1994 United Way Chairman.

To help reach PPPL's goal of $25,000 for this year's campaign, there will be four United Way meetings for employees on Thursday, December 8, at the MBG Auditorium. Staff will be broken into four groups, each of which will be assigned to one meeting. Meetings will be at 9 A.M., 10:30 A.M., 1:30 P.M., and 3 P.M. A party will be at 4 P.M.

These gatherings will include information on United Way programs, a brief presentation by a United Way representative, a video, refreshments, and door prizes [see list of prizes in this issue of HOTLINE] that have been so generously donated by employees and area merchants. The meetings will be similar to those in the past.

Employees unable to attend their designated meeting can switch to another time. Each attendee will be eligible for gifts that will be drawn and those who contribute to the campaign

Pledge Forms

Prior to the United Way meetings, PPPL'ers will receive pledge forms from their supervisors, which they can drop off at the end of their assigned meeting. Those who choose to donate can give either a one-time contribution or a series of donations through payroll deductions. Contributors may also choose how their gift will be used.

More than 50 charities comprise the organization's member agencies, with donations supporting disaster services, care for elderly people, programs for children and teens, family and human services, and job and housing referrals, among others.

Bavlish noted that this year, two member agencies, The Princeton Area and Mercer Area United Ways, combined into the Greater Mercer United Way. The resulting reduction in costs means that more of every dollar donated will go directly to the donor's charity.

The PPPL Campaign Chairman stressed that even a small gift to United Way can help. For instance, a pledge of $1 per week offers three days of emergency food assistance for a family of three while a gift of $20 per week provides diapers and formula for an infant for a full year while living in a shelter for homeless families.

Your donation helps provide shelter for the homeless.

"Every pledge helps in some way. So please, continue your support of United Way and bring the Lab to its goal," Bavlish urged employees.

The United Way Committee thanks everyone who donated gifts to the campaign. Particular thanks go to Virgin Atlantic Airways.●

A Generous Deed for Those in Need

Choosing How to Help

How much you give and how you give is a personal decision. United Way offers you the choice to contribute in the following three ways: to help the entire community, to target your gift to a field of service, or to a specific agency.

Community Care

Giving to Community Care helps the largest number of people. An intensive volunteer citizens' review process measures community needs and problems and aims assistance where needed. The volunteers ensure that your donations assist the programs that make the most impact on our area's citizens. By donating through Community Care, you can be sure that your dollars are reaching the people who need it the most.

Targeted Care

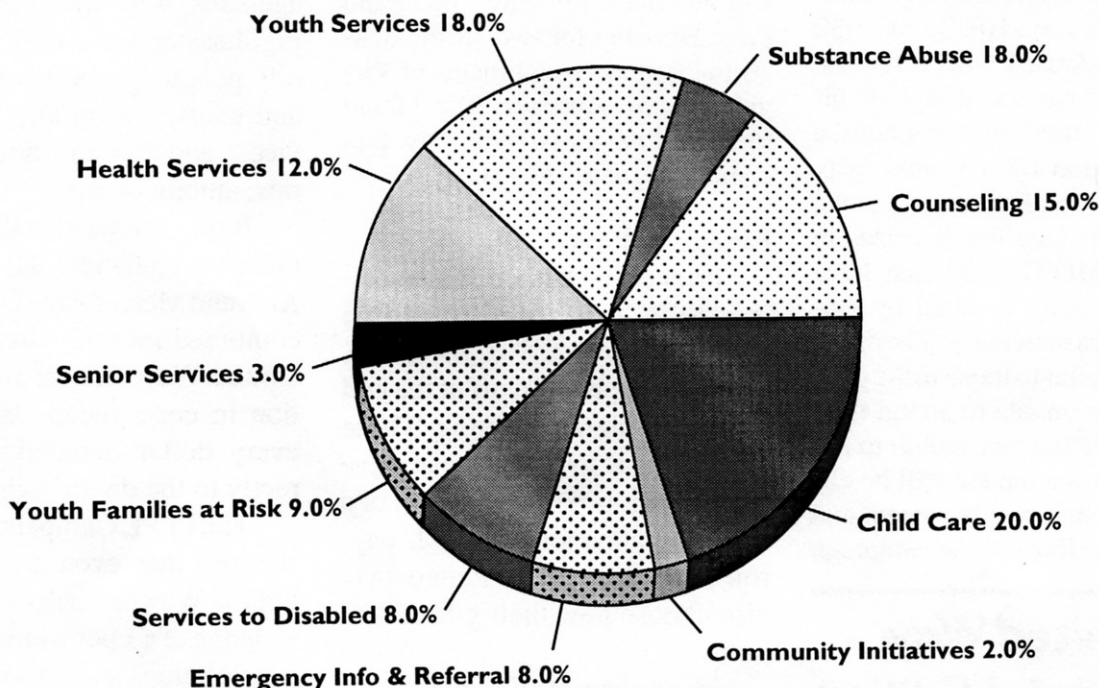

You can target your gift to a specific field of service. United Way Community Care volunteers will ensure that your gift is targeted toward the service you specify. You can earmark your donation for services among the following: child care; health; counseling and services for the disabled; senior services; services for the young; community initiatives; emergency assistance and services for the abused; and substance abuse prevention and treatment.

Specific Agency

You can direct your gift to one or more of the United Way member agencies, another United Way, or any health or human care agency with 501(c)3 IRS Status.

gin Atlantic Airways representative Linda Goff will present the tickets to the lucky winner.

In addition to the trip to London, other fabulous prizes will be drawn on December 16, including a Friday or Saturday overnight stay at the Ramada Inn and a free brunch for two at Princeton University's Prospect House. The last two prizes were donated by the Ramada Inn and Prospect House, respectively.
